Deposits

(9 months of 2015)

Chart 1. Dynamics of Depositary Base

In January-September 2015, there was an accelerated growth of the commercial banks depositary base in the market of bank deposits as compared to the similar period of 2014, which was mainly due to the significant growth of funds in the legal entities currency accounts of the principal market participants.

The indicators of the interest rates on the accepted deposits for nine months in the national and foreign currency did not experience significant generally, changes, having remained at the level of the similar period in the previous year. In the structural sector the increasing tendency of changes in the depositary base was due to the increase in the balance of funds in the accounts of entities as well as the growth of deposits demand and fixed-term deposits of the population.

By the end of the reporting period, the volume of

Deposits - total

Deposits Structure by Depositors

Chart 2. Deposit Structure by Depositors

Chart 2. Deposit Structure by Depositors

■Deposits of legal entities in foreign currency

Deposits of individuals in the national currency

the depositary base of commercial banks constituted KGS 93.4 billion, having increased from the beginning of the year by 13.1 percent. At the same time, the increase was due to the growth of the currency component in the depositary base by 30.1 percent, up to KGS 60.5 billion. Deposits in KGS were on the contrary decreased by 8.7 percent, up to KGS 32.9 billion.

Deposits of legal entities in the national currency

□Deposits of individuals in foreign currency

According to the results of January-September 2015, the dollarization of the depositary base increased, taking into account changes in the exchange rate, by 9.2 percentage points, up to 61.1 percent, due to the higher growth rates in the volume of currency deposits.

In the reporting period, there was an increase in the share of funds on the deposits on demand of the bank's clients in the time structure of the depositary base from 21.9 to 23.6 percent. The share in the settlement accounts increased from 33.2 to 31.3 percent. The share of the fixed-term deposits on the loan portfolio increased insignificantly from 44.9 to 45.1 percent.

The index of market concentration remained at the level of 0.11, which corresponds to the average level of concentration and is an equivalent to the presence of nine participants in the market with an equal share.

In the reporting period there was an increase in the inflow of deposits to the commercial banks. The volume of the newly accepted deposits in January-September 2015¹ constituted KGS 280.2 billion, having increased as compared to the similar indicator of 2013 by 3.7 percent. The volume of the newly accepted deposits in the national currency constituted KGS 132.4 billion (+3.7 percent), in foreign currency – KGS 147.8 billion in KGS equivalent (+3.8 percent).

By structure increase of the newly accepted deposits was mainly due to the growth in the fixed-term deposits, the volume of the latter increased by 21.4 percent within the reporting period. At the same time, the share of the deposits on demand decreased from 88.2 to 86.2 percent with the proportional enhancement in the share of fixed-term deposits (from 11.8 to 13.8 percent) due to the growth of their short-term composition.

The average weighted interest rate on the newly deposits accepted in national currency constituted 2.35 percent, having decreased by 0.03 percentage points as compared with the similar indicator of 2014. At the same time, the average weighted interest rate on the fixed-term deposits in the national currency constituted 12.51 percent (+2.20 percentage points), and on the deposits on demand -1.21 percent, having decreased by 0.14 percentage points as compared with the similar period of 2014.

Chart 2. Average Level of Interest Rates on New Deposits in the National Currency by Term Categories

Chart 3. Average Level of Interest Rates on New Deposits in Foreign Currency by Term Categories

The rate on the newly accepted deposits in foreign currency was 1.14 percent (+0.35 percentage point). At the same time, the average weighted interest rate on the deposits on demand in foreign currency decreased to 0.1 percent (-0.04 percentage points), on the fixed-term deposits in foreign currency the rate increased by 0.45 percentage points and constituted 6.13 percent.

¹ In the volume of the newly accepted deposits the settlement accounts of the bank's clients are not taken into account.